

In March my family was traveling from Florida, our third world vacation state, traveling back to PA. We listened to "Top Tracks" the entire time with the exception of traveling through Washington, Baltimore, and Philadelphia when we changed to local traffic. We were directed around an accident south of Washington and told of a construction project south of one of the Baltimore tunnels. What really surprised us was the detailed report of an accident at "Rt.663 and Orlando Road" in Lower Pottsgrove Township, PA. That's our intersection outside the house! We came home a different way and stayed out of the way of emergency personnel. Don't change XM radio. We need it for information and entertainment. Should I lose the traffic/weather reports I will think even lower of the  in Washington than I do now!
